KEEP TEAMS AT HOME. Carriages Will Not Be Allowed on Streets During Reception.

No teams, carriages or wagons will be allowed on Kansas avenue, or any of the cross streets within a block of the avenue along the line of march of the parade on the morning of the Twentieth Kansas reception. This or-

Twentieth Kansas reception. This order is imperative.
Chief Ramsey requests that people will remember to leave their carriages at home on that day, so that there will be no trouble. It will do no good to bring them down town, because they will positively be kept off the avenue and the side streets.

The side streets have been included in this order because whenever there has been a parade heretofore, people would come in carriages and collect in the side streets in such numbers as to blockade the entire street. This year lockade the entire street. This year there will be people enough on foot to fill in all that room. The principal reason is that if the fire department should be called out there would be no possible way for it to turn off of the avenue on account of the blockade of teams. For this reason the side streets will be kept clear.

People will also be required to keep

Parades heretofore have always had Parades heretofore have always had trouble with the people crowding into the street. This not only interferes with those in the parade, but it also shuts off the view of everybody on the walks and in the buildings, while if the people will remain on the walks there will be room enough for all to see.

Chief Ramsey is having trouble finding enough competent men to act as special policemen on the day of the reabout three applications for every job, but for this reception we have to hunt for men. No one seems to want to for men. No one seems to want to work on that day, even at being a po-liceman."
